ABOUT THE AREA

Wieniawa is a village located in Przysucha County, Mazovian Voivodeship, in east-central Poland. Situated approximately 13 kilometers east of Przysucha and about 96 kilometers south of Warsaw, Wieniawa holds historical significance, with its origins tracing back to the late Middle Ages. The name 'Wieniawa' is believed to be derived from the Wieniawa family, who established the settlement in the second half of the 15th century within the area of the nearby village of Kłudno. The village serves as the administrative seat of the rural gmina (administrative district) also named Gmina Wieniawa.

The history of Wieniawa is deeply intertwined with the broader history of Lesser Poland. Originally known as Kłudno, the Roman Catholic parish in the area was founded as early as 1365, though records suggest an even earlier church existed in 1264. Over the centuries, Wieniawa has witnessed various historical events, including significant military encounters, such as a battle during the Nazi occupation in the village of Plec, near Wieniawa. Today, remnants of its past, like the St. Stephen's church built between 1636-1648, offer glimpses into its rich heritage.

Demographically, Wieniawa is a smaller community within the Mazovian Voivodeship. As of 2019, the gmina of Wieniawa had a population of 5,471, placing it as the second most populous rural gmina in Przysucha County. The area is characterized by a relatively low population density compared to the broader Mazovian Voivodeship. Like many rural areas in Poland, Wieniawa has experienced a slight decrease in population over recent years, although the gmina is divided into 21 sołectwa (villages) and 24 localities, each contributing to the local community fabric.

For those traveling to Wieniawa, the nearest major airport is Warsaw Chopin Airport (WAW). Situated approximately 96 kilometers to the north, Warsaw Chopin Airport is Poland's largest airport and offers extensive domestic and international connections. From Warsaw, visitors can reach Wieniawa by various means of transport, including regional buses or by renting a car, making it a relatively accessible destination within the Mazovian region. There is also a local airport Warszawa Radom: <https://www.lotniskowarszawa-radom.pl/en> with international connections and situated about 40 minutes door-to-door from Koryciska. Chopin Airport is a bit further and accessible by train which takes about 90 minutes to get there and about the same amount of time by car
