BRĪVĪBAS 171 is a modern office building located in Riga at the intersection of Brīvības and Indrāņu Streets, near the VEF Air Bridge. The construction of the six-story building was completed in October 2006. The building's façade facing Brīvības Street is made of aluminum and glass, reflecting a large oak tree growing nearby. The courtyard side of the building is designed in terraces, providing additional light in the building and relaxation areas for the employees working there. Parking for tenants' cars is provided in the underground parking of the building.

In recent years, extensive renovations have been carried out to ensure that the spaces meet modern office requirements. The office spaces, restrooms, and the reception area on the first floor have been renovated. New kitchen facilities have been installed, and there is modern LED lighting throughout the premises. The building offers offices of various sizes – from 110 sq.m to 335 sq.m, which are available for immediate rental or construction according to tenant requirements. A new 197.6 sq.m open-plan office (including 42.5 sq.m of shared spaces) with complete finishing is available for rent on the second floor. It features new LED lighting, and the office has panoramic windows facing Brīvības Street. The office layout is customizable to suit the tenant's needs. The shared areas of the floor include a fully equipped kitchen and four restrooms.
