Aaron is a parish of Valencia with 2.59 km2 of area, and about 758 inhabitants, had the status of parish until 2013, date when due to the administrative reorganization of the territory of the parishes was integrated in the Union of Parishes of Valença, Cristelo Covo and Arão.

Aaron, germanic root name, result ing from the evolution of the name "Ara", was also called S. Salvador de Vilar de Lamas.

The parish is already identified in the 19th century. XII and antiquity is proven by the designation of the places: Agrolento, which comes from the archaic Argo and the slow adjective; Eirado will come from "heerado", ivy field; Arrechín, from the archaic "Erechín", which may mean perhaps land dumped from water or pousion; Senra, it is presumed to come from a rustic building; and Vilar de Lamas, composed of "villar" (core of settlement or fraction of "rustic villa") and "lama" (it seems that it should be another medieval building, "flooded or flooded") this with some importance, because it is its old name. - REF: 331/T/01827
