Water Supply

Rainwater is collected from the entire roof and deposited in a 75,000 liter cistern. For drinking water there is an extra tank of 1,000 liters. The kitchen and all of the bathrooms have 2 faucets - one for drinking and one for rainwater.

Power Supply

Electricity is produced with photovoltaic panels and stored in a battery bank. The panels are located on 2 trackers which daily track the sun from east to west to allow for maximum energy production.

By lack of sun over a longer period of time, the diesel generator turns on and tops up the batteries.

Heating

The entire house has underfloor heating. The hot water is heated by an oil furnace. In addition there is an 800 liter buffer tank which is heated from solar panels and from the wood fireplace in the living room.
