ABOUT THE AREA

Cosbystown is a tranquil rural locality nestled within County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland, a region globally renowned as the 'Lakeland County' for its stunning concentration of lakes, rivers, and wooded islands. Situated near the southern shores of Lower Lough Erne, the area is defined by its serene, drumlin-strewn landscape and offers the quintessential Fermanagh experience of peaceful, water-centric living. The location, frequently associated with the prestigious Lough Shore Road, provides residents with both an idyllic escape and easy access to local amenities.

The principal hub for Cosbystown residents is the historic and picturesque town of Enniskillen, which is only about 8 miles away. Enniskillen is unique as the only island town in Ireland, situated strategically on a sliver of land connecting the upper and lower portions of Lough Erne. It serves as the commercial and cultural heart of County Fermanagh, boasting attractions like the historic Enniskillen Castle, the Neo-classical Castle Coole, and a vibrant town centre with shops, restaurants, and schools. This proximity allows for convenient access to all necessary services and leisure activities, from retail therapy to exploring ancient military history and the famous local pub culture.

Life in the Cosbystown area is intrinsically linked to the outdoors and the vast Fermanagh Lakelands. The region is a paradise for water sports enthusiasts, offering sailing, kayaking, fishing, and boating on the sprawling Lough Erne system. Beyond the water, popular attractions nearby include the dramatic Cuilcagh Boardwalk Trail (often called the Stairway to Heaven), the fascinating underground world of the Marble Arch Caves Global Geopark, and various National Trust sites. The location also offers easy drives to the magnificent beaches of the Donegal coastline, such as Rossnowlagh and Tullan Strand, making it ideal for those who appreciate both lakeside serenity and coastal adventure.

For international or long-distance travel, Cosbystown relies on regional airports. The nearest major international airport is George Best Belfast City Airport (BHD) or Belfast International Airport (BFS), both located approximately 90 to 120 minutes away by car. However, for travellers who are driving from the Republic of Ireland, Dublin Airport (DUB) is often considered a convenient alternative, offering extensive international connections and being roughly a 2.5-hour drive away. While a local civilian facility, Enniskillen/St Angelo Airport, exists just north of the town, it does not currently host scheduled commercial passenger flights.
