Περιγραφή:

This property offers classic architecture and four bedrooms, two bathrooms, a kitchen, and two living rooms, one of them featuring a fireplace, perfect for cooler days. At the entrance, a covered terrace invites you to relax and enjoy the peaceful surroundings.

The ground floor includes a very spacious garage warehouse with capacity for several vehicles and excellent potential for conversion into a studio, leisure area, or even additional living space. The property also benefits from a rooftop typical of Algarvian houses and a loft, providing extra storage or an option for future adaptations.

The land features traditional trees, such as olive, carob and fig trees, creating an authentic natural setting. Several terraces allow you to fully enjoy the views and the tranquil countryside atmosphere.

Although the construction is solid and the house is currently habitable, it would benefit from modernization, offering excellent opportunities for renovation and personal touch to suit the new owners taste.

Located just 8 km from both Loulé and Boliqueime, the property combines easy access with the serenity of the countryside, an ideal opportunity for those seeking space, tranquillity and convenience in one place. - REF: 1009-2410
