A much-loved Andalusian sanctuary of peace, abundance and breathtaking views

Hidden at the end of a quiet country track, embraced by ancient trees and surrounded by uninterrupted views, Finca Los Pajaritos - Little Bird Farm - is one of those rare places that changes the pace of life the moment you arrive.

Set within just over 1.93 hectares of fully fenced land, this enchanting organic smallholding has been a cherished retreat for writers, filmmakers, family and friends seeking rest, inspiration and reconnection with nature. It is a home defined not only by its beauty, but by its atmosphere: a profound sense of calm, privacy and belonging.

The House

Rich in character and thoughtfully improved, the traditional farmhouse combines rustic Andalusian charm with practical modern comforts.

At its heart is a wonderful long living room, rebuilt in 2023 with insulated double walls and elegant double-glazed doors opening onto some of the most spectacular views imaginable. A large open fireplace becomes the centre of gatherings, where paellas have been cooked over open flames and long evenings shared with friends and family.

The inner sitting room offers another cosy retreat. Thick original walls keep the house naturally cool in summer and wonderfully warm in winter, while the wood-burning stove fills the space with comforting heat that lingers long after the fire has died down. Newly installed double-glazed windows with traditional shutters enhance both comfort and style.

The farmhouse kitchen celebrates its Andalusian roots, featuring the original fireplace where meals were cooked over wood for many years. Alongside it sits a traditional bread and pizza oven, full of possibility for those who love authentic country living.

The accommodation currently provides flexible sleeping arrangements with two to three bedrooms, including:

A bright south-facing bedroom with excellent insulation, wooden ceilings and double-glazed windows. A spacious upstairs room nestled beneath the tree canopy, extending along much of the length of the house.

The generous long room itself, often used to welcome extras guests, and could easily be converted into a private suite, with adding a kitchen and bathroom to the garage to the side, subject to planning.

Outdoor Living at Its Best

Life here naturally unfolds outdoors.

A terrace beside the house becomes the true summer living room: a place for long lunches, evening meals and watching the changing colours of the landscape as the sun sets.

The swimming pool offers welcome relief during warmer months and enjoys a recently installed filtration system and timer.

There is also a garage, together with a freestanding steel-framed covered area providing additional sheltered parking.

The Land

The gardens surrounding the house are enclosed and mature, creating a sheltered oasis filled with fragrance, birdsong and colour throughout the seasons.

Amongst the established planting are approximately 100 vines, alongside productive fruit trees including:

Apricot

Mulberry
Clementine
Pomegranate
Loquat
Fig
Orange

Ancient olive trees stand alongside bay, Spanish oak, carob and two magnificent pine trees that frame the property beautifully.

The vines produce enough grapes to make around 100 litres of wine each year, while carob, apricots, figs and pomegranates have long been sold locally.

Beyond the gardens lies the wider farm: organically certified and home to approximately 350 olive trees, predominantly Manzanilla and Picual varieties. Around 300 were planted some twenty years ago, with recent harvests exceeding 9,000 kilograms. For those wishing to continue production, a trusted local land worker who has cared for the olives for years may be available to assist.

Water is supplied from a deep private well, renowned locally for its reliability and fed by underground water sources beneath the land. A well-planned irrigation network distributes water throughout the gardens. The house benefits from mains electricity, and the roof orientation is ideal for solar installation should a future owner wish to embrace greater energy independence.

Future Potential

An existing outbuilding, already recorded on the cadastral plans, offers exciting possibilities. Originally envisioned as a semi-independent guest house for extended family, visitors or volunteers, it enjoys separate access potential and could become a wonderful additional accommodation space, studio or workspace (subject to any necessary permissions).

A Haven for Wildlife

The finca earns its name honestly.

Little Bird Retreat is a paradise for nature lovers and birdwatchers. Quail, partridge, hoopoes, swallows, bee-eaters, turtle doves, goldfinches, golden orioles, warblers, eagle owls, little owls and hawks all make appearances throughout the year. Hares and rabbits roam the land, while the surrounding trees provide shelter and song from dawn until dusk.

Privacy, Security and Peace

Despite its secluded feel, the finca enjoys the reassurance of wonderful neighbours nearby. Access is via a single track passing between two neighbouring homes, with another trusted neighbour further up the hill.

No one arrives here by chance. There is no passing traffic, no disturbance and no intrusion.

Only silence, birdsong and open skies.

A Truly Special Place

Little bird retreat, is more than a farmhouse. It is a sanctuary: restorative, magical and deeply peaceful.

Whether you dream of producing your own olive oil and wine, creating an inspiring retreat, welcoming guests, embracing a slower rhythm of life, or simply finding a beautiful home immersed in nature, this remarkable property offers an increasingly rare opportunity to own a place where life feels gentler, richer and profoundly connected to the landscape.
