Discover an Exceptional Auvergnate Stone House in Chastreix

Discover a rare opportunity to acquire a stunning, fully renovated stone house nestled in the breathtaking landscape of Chastreix, France. Rooted in the rich architectural heritage of the region, this property is a traditional Auvergnate barn masterfully transformed into a spacious and unique country home. Retaining its authentic historical character while offering modern comforts, the impressive rectangular structure measures 28 meters by 8 meters and spans two well-proportioned stories.

Regional Setting & High-Altitude Climate

Situated in the heart of Auvergne, the property benefits directly from its elevated mountain position. The higher altitude makes the climate noticeably cooler, accompanying hot summer months with a refreshing, revitalizing breeze—an increasingly valuable asset and an important consideration given ongoing global climate change trends.

This property delivers an idyllic mountain-style lifestyle defined by crisp clean air, vibrant seasonal changes, and profound tranquility.

History & Private Grounds

Historically, the upper level served as a functional hayloft, while the ground floor combined a modest habitation space with a double cowshed. Access to the upper floor was traditionally gained via a sweeping outdoor ramp leading from the front of the property directly through a set of grand, original double doors.

Today, the residence occupies a private, serene setting surrounded by lush fields and mature woodlands. Offering a direct, unobstructed view of the majestic Sancy massif, the property is entirely unoverlooked, ensuring absolute peace and quiet. It is approached via a long, private driveway that conveniently connects to the nearby D129 road.

Layout & Interior Spaces

The house enjoys a favorable north-south orientation, with the primary entrance positioned on the sun-drenched south side.

Ground Floor

Entrance & Cellar: Stepping inside, a practical porch opens into a spacious, light-filled hallway with warm wooden floors. From this central hub, a charming passage leads directly into a traditional, small stone-vaulted wine cave—ideal for storage and rich in regional character.

Workshop & Storage: Two additional doors from the hallway provide access to the lower residential quarters and an extraordinary ground-floor workshop measuring 14m x 4m, complete with a durable concrete floor and sturdy built-in worktables. Running parallel on the north side is a separate storage area of identical dimensions (14m x 4m). Standing inside the main workshop offers a fascinating architectural glimpse into the past: looking upward, you can see a striking line of ancient tree trunks that once served as the primary load-bearing beams for the original upper barn floor.

Lower Living Quarters: Crossing back through the central hallway leads to the lower residential space, featuring a generous open-plan living room laid with cool, low-maintenance tiles. Illuminated by two picture windows and a large open window, it creates a seamless visual connection to the outdoors. A well-appointed corner of this room functions as a practical kitchen area.

Bedrooms & Bath: A compact landing off the living space leads to:

A large double bedroom featuring picturesque views of the surrounding meadows.

A spacious family bathroom equipped with a full-sized bathtub, toilet, washbasin, and a convenient airing cupboard.

A large built-in storage cupboard ensuring efficient use of every square meter.

Upper Level

Ascending the stairs from the ground-floor hallway brings you to the magnificent upper floor, serving as a multi-functional open-plan living room, kitchen, dining area, and study.

Architectural Detail: The space is brilliantly lit by windows positioned exactly where the massive historic barn doors and the front hayloft hatch once stood, complemented by two modern skylights. The roof structure features exposed wooden beams and sturdy pillars beneath sloping, plastered ceilings, resulting in an exceptionally light, airy, warm, and inviting environment.

Bedrooms & Bath: Just off the study area are two generously proportioned, bright double bedrooms, perfect for family or guests, alongside a contemporary upstairs bathroom featuring a modern shower, toilet, and hand basin.

Elevated Terrace & Views

From the large windows of the main upper living space, a door opens directly onto an elevated private terrace—the crown jewel of the property. It offers a sweeping panorama of rolling fields, dense woods, and a gentle river meandering through the valley below.

To the eastern horizon, the magnificent Auvergne volcanoes rise majestically, led by the Sancy and its surrounding peaks. To the north, dramatic ridge lines stretch toward La Bourboule and Le Mont-Dore. Looking toward the lower slopes of the Sancy, you can catch sight of the local ski slopes and the charming mountain village of Chastreix.

Environmental & Technical Inspections

Energy/Environmental Inspection (March 2026): Classified as D.

Microstation Wastewater Inspection (March 2026): Fully inspected and documented.

Whether you are searching for a serene permanent residence, a peaceful holiday escape, or a unique countryside investment in the heart of France, this fully renovated stone barn in Chastreix represents a truly rare find.

ABOUT THE AREA

Nestled in the heart of the Puy-de-Dome department within the Auvergne-Rhone-Alpes region, Chastreix is a quintessential French mountain commune defined by its striking natural beauty and peaceful rural character. The village sits within the breathtaking Massif du Sancy landscape, surrounded by a protected natural reserve that boasts sweeping volcanic peaks, lush valleys, and dense forests. It offers a tranquil escape from urban life, characterized by crisp mountain air, rich biodiversity, and deep-rooted pastoral traditions.

The area is a true haven for outdoor enthusiasts across all four seasons. In the warmer months, the landscape transforms into a network of scenic hiking and riding trails, including paths winding through the dramatic Cirque de la Fontaine Salee and up toward the majestic Puy de Sancy, the highest peak in the Massif Central.
