Περιγραφή:	Aviz Mill Portugal's Largest Windmill Montejunto Mountain Range

Perched high on the Montejunto Mountain Range, at approximately 370 meters altitude, stands the Aviz Mill, recognized as Portugal's largest windmill, dating from 1810.

Set on a 2,625 m² plot, it features a 28 m² footprint and 3 floors, offering a genuinely distinctive opportunity for those seeking a property with history, character, and transformation potential.

Rebuilt in 2008, it preserves its traditional design and timeless charm of rural constructions from bygone eras, inviting a thoughtful reinterpretation of the space while respecting its architecture and authenticity.

The land is one of the property's greatest assets: a generous plot surrounded by nature and the tranquility of the Montejunto Mountain Range, with the possibility of an additional approximately 40 m² of construction, expanding the project's potential.

Given its unique characteristics, location, and setting, it presents excellent possibilities for a rural tourism project, boutique accommodation, or private retreat.

A property for those who value what is rare: history, authenticity, tranquility, and potential.

Discover the Aviz Mill and bring your next project to life in a truly exceptional setting.
