About the Area

Dolna Banya is a picturesque town in the south western part of Bulgaria which is also a popular spa resort. The region is one of the ecologically purest areas in Bulgaria.

Dolna Banya is 70 km away from Sofia and 17 km away from the famous ski resort Borovets. It is situated on the north – eastern mountainside of Rila Mountain. The climate is mild continental, typical for the sub mountain layer. The surrounding forest reduces the rapid temperature fluctuations. In winter the temperatures are higher than those in the open fields and valleys while in summer the temperatures are lower. The flora is characterized by broad leaves and coniferous forests, meadows, rich habitats of herbs and mushrooms. The relief is semi-mountainous with an altitude of 650 meters. The town boasts crystal clear air, high negative ionization and no sharp temperature fluctuations.

The Dolna Banya spas offer abundance of mineral water and stunning scenery. There are geothermal mineral springs with water coming directly from the source with temperatures up to 67.8 C°. The water is used for curing a number of diseases, but only externally. The recreation campus is 5 km to the south, with many recreation facilities and children camps. There is a tourist challet called Gerginitza (80 beds). Marked hiking tracks start from the recreation campus and cross Eastern Rila. There are beautiful rivers (namely Maritsa and Ibar) plus countless lakes making it a popular destination with fishermen.
