ABOUT THE AREA

Nestled amidst the rolling foothills of the Sierra Nevada mountains in Granada, Spain, lies the charming village of Gor. Boasting a rich history dating back centuries, Gor offers a glimpse into a slower pace of life, far removed from the hustle and bustle of modern existence. With a population hovering around 700, the village exudes a sense of peaceful tranquility, ideal for those seeking an escape from the everyday.

Despite its seclusion, Gor isn't completely off the grid. The village boasts a surprising array of amenities, catering to the needs of its residents. A refreshing dip awaits at the free public swimming pool, while a library and gym provide opportunities for leisure and fitness. Two welcoming bars offer a chance to socialize with locals and fellow residents, and a medical center and pharmacy ensure access to essential services. For younger residents, a school serves children up to 12 years old, fostering a sense of community within the village. Daily necessities are also taken care of with the presence of two shops.

A crowning jewel of Gor is its magnificent Moorish castle, a testament to the region's fascinating past. Wander through the village's quaint plazas, soaking in breathtaking vistas of the surrounding countryside.

The air hums with a rich cultural heritage, waiting to be explored by curious visitors. Beyond the village itself, the surrounding area offers a wealth of opportunities for outdoor enthusiasts. Hiking and biking trails weave through the stunning landscapes of the Sierra Nevada National Park, while the nearby towns of Baza and Guadix provide a taste of Spanish culture and history.
