ABOUT THE AREA

Alomartes, is a dependent village of the municipality of Íllora, which is located at the foothills on the mountain range of Parapanda, being one of the series of villages in the Poniente Granadino (west side of Granada). Alomartes is becoming a popular tourist reference point thanks to the characteristics of its location.

The monumental richness in the village centre is enhanced further by its scenic surroundings. From the road linking Íllora to Montefrío one can access the Peña de los Gitanos, a nature spot whose northern most point terminates a vast valley, and on the south, borders the Sierra de Parapanda. The Peñas, rock formation that run parallel to the valley, offer spectacular calcareous scenery tracing an abundant vegetation of Holm oak forests and scrub land making it an ideal place to go hill walking due to the large number of available paths. There are also outstanding Megalithic formations consisting of hundreds of dolmens of Neolithic origin.

. Granada is a province of southern Spain, in the eastern part of the autonomous community of Andalusia. It is bordered by the provinces of Albacete, Murcia, Almería, Jaén, Córdoba, Málaga, and the Mediterranean Sea. Its capital city is also called Granada. The province covers an area of 12,531 km²

Spain's region of Andalusia is composed of eight provinces, stretching from the south-east to the south-west of the country, each one named for its capital city: Cadiz, Cordoba, Jaen, Huelva, Almeria, Malaga, Granada and Seville. It is now one of the most popular tourist destinations in Europe, thanks to its sandy beaches, beautiful countryside, spectacular mountain ranges, fabulous monuments and high-spirited people who live life to the full and are well known for their exuberance, warmth and hospitality

It borders with the Spanish regions of Castilla-La Mancha and Extremadura in the north, with the region of Murcia in the east, and with the English territory of Gibraltar and the Mediterranean Sea in the south.

Andalusia is very well communicated with the rest of Europe thanks to frequent flights, and with Morocco, too. And while in the region, you can't miss the opportunity to discover its countless beauties by driving along the breathtaking landscapes, which ensure this region is the best place to spend your well-deserved holidays.
