furnished, turnkey home, representing zero effort for immediate, luxurious coastal living or a high-end rental investment.

Unparalleled Property and Design

The property sits on a beautifully fully landscaped lot of 1,082.51 m<sup>2</sup> with a substantial 298.95 m<sup>2</sup> of constructed space. The architecture and interiors are a testament to an Eclectic design style, artfully blending modern lines with serene, natural touches. A striking feature upon entering the property is a magnificent carved stone representing a shaman from the ancient Jama Coaque Culture, a piece of art created by local artist Ricardo Alcivar, setting a sophisticated cultural tone.

The design philosophy emphasizes natural, locally sourced materials, featuring beautiful woods harvested from the Jama area, including a blend of Teak, Samanea saman (Rain Tree), and Guayacán. Custom craftsmanship is evident everywhere, from the teak chairs and tables in the screened seating area—made from wood harvested at a nearby hacienda—to the bar between the kitchen and dining area, which utilizes a single piece of Saman wood from the hills near Estero Seco. Even the floor coverings are a unique luxury: tanned hides from the Sierras near Cotacachi and Otavalo add personalized warmth, softness, and a rich, luxurious feel to the décor.

This home is offered as a complete turnkey package, including all high-end furniture, appliances, and some decorative elements.

Magnificent Bedroom Suites

The residence is structured with two large private suites on the second floor of the main house, and a private third guest suite on the main floor.

The Main Suites (Second Floor):

These suites are the true jewels of the home, offering breathtaking views that epitomize the 'screensaver life.' They overlook the gardens, pool, and the beach, with magnificent vistas of Punta Ballena to the west. Depending on the season, you can watch dolphins, catch a glimpse of a breaching whale, or simply observe the daily routine of village fishing boats. The suites are designed for relaxation: the first includes a seating area with a smart TV, while the second offers a desk, ideal for a computer, crafting, or a home office. Each boasts a private bathroom with a shower and toilet, complete with aftermarket bidets, as well as a Minka ceiling fan and Split AC. For ultimate convenience, the washer/dryer units are located on the second floor.

The Guest Suite (Main Floor):

Connected by the main floor patio, the third suite serves as a completely private guest space. It is ideal for visiting family and friends, featuring a functional kitchen, television, seating area, queen bed, and an ensuite bathroom with a shower. This suite is also climate-controlled with a ceiling fan and AC. The third suite also connects to a single-car garage with a remote-controlled Chamberlain door system.

The El Matal Lifestyle

Life in El Matal is defined by tranquility and an abundance of fresh seafood. In the afternoons, you can watch the fishing boats return and make your way to the village to purchase your dinner directly from the fishermen—the catch is plentiful, often including tuna, dorado, corvina, picudo, and wahoo (in season).

This property provides a total of five outdoor seating areas, allowing you to choose your perfect vista for every moment: beach views with the sound of the waves, a sun-drenched spot by the pool, or the covered patio near the house while you prepare the day's fresh catch on the BBQ. This is your chance to embrace the ultimate coastal lifestyle. What view of your postcard would you like to enjoy now?

ABOUT THE AREA

El Matal, located in the Manabí Province on the central coast of Ecuador, is celebrated as one of the country's most serene and tranquil beach destinations. Unlike the bustling resort areas, El Matal retains the authentic charm of a small, traditional fishing village, offering a genuinely relaxed and laid-back pace of life. The beach itself is known for its pristine, golden sands and calm waters, which are ideal for swimming, leisurely walks, and observing marine life, including the occasional sighting of dolphins or even whales during the migration season. This sense of peace, combined with the natural beauty of the Pacific coast, makes the area a highly sought-after location for those looking to escape to a coastal sanctuary.

The local culture in El Matal is deeply connected to the ocean. Fishing remains a primary activity, and a key highlight of living here is the daily ritual of watching the fishermen return with their plentiful catch—including tuna, dorado, and wahoo—which can be purchased directly from the boats or the local fish market. This access to incredibly fresh seafood is a major draw for residents and visitors alike. The community is welcoming and features small local shops and quaint fincas (farms), offering a relaxed and self-sufficient lifestyle where one can easily find fresh produce and experience the simple, warm hospitality of the Ecuadorian coastal people.

The Manabí region, where El Matal is situated, has seen an increase in development focused on quality and privacy, often featuring properties built to higher standards with exclusive amenities. The climate is comparable to a year-round paradise, with warm temperatures that often make air conditioning unnecessary, thanks to the cooling onshore breezes from the Pacific. Real estate in the El Matal beachside area is highly valued for providing a tranquil, low-density environment while still being minutes away from the main E15 coastal highway that connects the numerous beaches and towns along the coast.

Accessibility to El Matal is served by the nearby regional air hub. The nearest major airport is the Eloy Alfaro International Airport (MEC), located in the city of Manta, Manabí Province. Manta is approximately 80 to 90 miles (roughly 130 to 145 kilometers) south of El Matal. While not immediately next door, the drive connects easily via the main coastal road, making it possible to reach international connections or domestic flights within a comfortable driving time of around 2 to 3 hours. This allows residents to enjoy the tranquility of El Matal while maintaining convenient access to Ecuador's larger cities and the rest of the world.
