Utilities are present: independent heating with a working fireplace, dove-gray Brunelleschi flooring, a new boiler, stovetop, and oven, a working refrigerator and freezer, cherry wood doors, windows that just need repainting. The shelving in the bedroom will also be left, a working TV system, and a new boiler.

Castagneto Carducci is a medieval village with 8,700 inhabitants located in the heart of the Etruscan Coast, in the province of Livorno. The village is perched on a hill about 10 km from the sea and originally developed around the castle of the Counts of Gherardesca family. Shops and services of all kinds are available.
