Descripción:

- This generously proportioned three-room apartment offers an exciting opportunity to create a stylish and individual home in one of Prenzlauer Berg's most established neighbourhoods.

The property is in need of renovation, giving its future owners the freedom to redesign and modernise the interior according to their own taste and requirements. Its spacious layout includes three bright rooms, a separate kitchen and a separate bathroom. Two charming French balconies introduce additional light and provide an attractive connection to the surrounding streetscape.

Large windows and well-proportioned rooms create a bright and welcoming atmosphere throughout the apartment. Whether designed as a comfortable family home, a spacious residence for a couple or a home with a dedicated office, the flexible floor plan offers a variety of possibilities. With thoughtful renovation, this property has the potential to become an exceptional home combining classic Berlin character with contemporary comfort.

The apartment is situated in the heart of the Helmholtzkiez, a popular residential neighbourhood in Prenzlauer Berg bordered by Schonhauser Allee, Danziger Strasse, Prenzlauer Allee and the Ringbahn. The area is known for its attractive period buildings, tree-lined streets and lively yet residential atmosphere. Helmholtzplatz, affectionately known locally as 'Helmi', forms the centre of the neighbourhood and offers green spaces, playgrounds, sports facilities and relaxed meeting places for residents.

The surrounding streets, including Stargarder Strasse, Raumerstrasse and Lychener Strasse, offer an excellent selection of independent cafes, bakeries, restaurants and small local shops. Everyday essentials are conveniently available from nearby supermarkets, organic food stores, pharmacies and specialist retailers. Schonhauser Allee, one of Prenzlauer Berg's principal shopping streets, is also within easy reach, together with the Schonhauser Allee Arcaden, which provides supermarkets, fashion stores, services, bakeries and further shopping options.

The neighbourhood is particularly well connected. Schonhauser Allee station provides access to the U2 underground line, the Ringbahn and other S-Bahn services, as well as tram and bus connections. Eberswalder Strasse station, also served by the U2 and several tram routes, offers quick connections towards Alexanderplatz, Mitte and other parts of Berlin.

For recreation, Helmholtzplatz is close by, while the popular Mauerpark can also be reached comfortably. Mauerpark offers extensive lawns, areas for sport and relaxation, playgrounds and its well-known weekend flea market, making it one of the neighbourhood's most distinctive leisure destinations.

A bright, spacious property with significant potential, set within a vibrant and highly connected Prenzlauer Berg neighbourhood—an ideal opportunity to create a truly personal Berlin home.
