Description:

Beautiful top (second) floor totally restored one bedroom apartment in a medieval townhouse dating back to year 1400. The apartment is situated in the historic centre of the walled city of Suvereto, on a hillside close to the sea.

The apartment of 40 m2 has been lovingly restored and comprises double bedroom, open plan lounge with open fire and kitchen corner, shower room.

This area of Tuscany is well known for its Etruscan archaeological sites such as Golfo di Baratti and Populonia, its medieval heritage and its internationally renowned wine.

Suvereto itself is one of the most ancient villages, originating in Roman times when coastal populations moved further inland to the hills for better defence. It takes its name from the local word for cork, "suvero" ("sughero" in Italian) as forests of cork oak are characteristic of the area as well as olive groves and vineyards.

Close by is the Provincial Park of Montioni, where paths and bridleways snake amongst natural resources and archaeological remains, making it a paradise for trekking and horse-riding. There are also very good golf courses close by.
