ABOUT THE AREA

Vilamoura: A Luxury Resort Destination in Portugal

Vilamoura is a resort in the Algarve region of southern Portugal. It's known for its large marina, golf courses and casino, and for sandy Vilamoura Beach. Cerro da Vila archaeological museum has a ruined Roman villa with bathhouses and mosaics. Red cliffs line Falésia Beach, which stretches west to the fishing village Olhos de Água. Vilamoura merges with the town of Quarteira, to the southeast, with more beaches.

The Beaches

Vilamoura actually boasts 2 sandy beaches – Praia da Marina and Praia de Falesia. Sunloungers and umbrellas are dotted along both, and a long promenade between them brings in plenty of bars and restaurants. Where the sprawling Praia de Falesia ends, Praia Olhos d'Água begins. It's a 20-minute drive away, and the watersports centre offers snorkelling trips into the scalloped caves.

The Golf Courses

Vilamoura is home to five championship golf courses, including the Oceânico Vilamoura Resort, which hosted the Portugal Open in 2017. The courses are designed by some of the world's leading golf architects, including Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, and Arnold Palmer.

The Nightlife

Vilamoura has a vibrant nightlife scene, with a variety of bars, clubs, and restaurants to choose from. The Casino Vilamoura is a popular destination for gambling and entertainment.

Other Attractions

In addition to its beaches, golf courses, and nightlife, Vilamoura also offers a variety of other attractions, including:

- * The Vilamoura Marina, a luxury marina with a variety of restaurants, shops, and bars
- * The Vilamoura Cultural Centre, which hosts a variety of events, including concerts, exhibitions, and theater performances

* The Aquashow Park, a water park with a variety of slides and attractions

Vilamoura is a popular destination for both tourists and locals. It offers something for everyone, from sunbathing and swimming to golfing and gambling. It may have a modern vibe to it, but just 100 metres from Vilamoura's marina there's the ruins of an ancient Roman fishing village, complete with old wall murals and a bathing complex. A half-an-hour drive takes you to the pretty town of Loule, popular for walks along the imposing walls of the 13th-century castle. And about the same time gets you to Faro. In the cidade velha – the old part of the city – there's a cathedral that may not look much from outside but has colourful tiles inside. And from the top tower, you get a fantastic view of the 17th-century Bishop's Palace, official residence to the Bishop of Faro.
