Description:

- Located in one of Kreuzberg's most prestigious neighborhoods, this spacious commercially zoned apartment is set in a beautifully preserved 19th-century building. The property features a large main room with a shopfront-style entrance and display window, ideal for a creative studio, office, or showroom. Two additional rooms offer flexibility for private workspaces or quiet retreat areas.

The apartment includes a fully equipped bathroom with a window and a ready-fitted kitchen with an oven and sink, providing a comfortable and functional layout. A generous cellar storage room is also included, offering ample space for inventory or personal items. The overall character of the property blends historic charm with practical usability.

Just steps from the vibrant Bergmannstrasse, the location offers easy access to shops, cafes, restaurants, and the popular market hall. Viktoriapark is nearby, with walking paths and panoramic views, while the expansive Tempelhofer Feld provides open space for recreation and relaxation.

Public transport links are excellent, with nearby bus routes to Alexanderplatz and the U7 subway line offering direct connections across the city, including to Berlin Brandenburg Airport. This is a unique opportunity to own a versatile and inspiring space in the heart of Kreuzberg.

City area

Kreuzberg is a central and multicultural district, linked to Friedrichshain by the famous bridge Oberbaumbrücke, listed as a historical monument. Behind the Spree, the Wrangelkiez is a trendy area with many bars and restaurants. To the south of Kreuzberg, the Bergmankiez is a lively district with many shopping streets. There is a large covered market, the Marheineke Markthalle. Viktoriapark, perched on a hill, offers a panoramic view of Berlin. For culture buffs, the Hebbel Am Ufer offers a rich program of contemporary dance and theatre. Several companies, such as Deliveroo, were seduced by the dynamism of Kreuzberg and installed their headquarters. Many old buildings, recently renovated, attract investors from around the world and increased the standing of this neighbourhood.
