Obsidian is perfectly positioned in Manchester's city centre, placing residents at the heart of what The Economist has called the UK's most liveable city. From the independent cafes and street art of the Northern Quarter to the lively dining scene of Deansgate and the cultural venues along the Oxford Road corridor, the area offers a rich and varied urban experience.

Nearby, Aviva Studios hosts a world-class programme of events and exhibitions, adding to the city's rapidly evolving cultural landscape. Residents can also enjoy riverside walks leading to Media City or explore expansive green spaces like RHS Garden Bridgewater.

Excellent transport connections, just 5 minutes from Salford Central Station and 15 minutes from the city centre, make getting around effortless. Surrounded by ongoing regeneration, this location combines connectivity, culture, and long-term growth potential, making it one of Manchester's most exciting places to live
