ABOUT THE AREA

Lumbarda is a charming coastal village situated on the eastern tip of Korčula Island in southern Croatia. Known for its laid-back atmosphere and stunning natural beauty, it is a place where the Adriatic Sea meets rolling hills draped in ancient vineyards. Unlike the more fortified and bustling Korčula Town nearby, Lumbarda offers a sprawling, pastoral landscape characterized by sandy shorelines—a rarity in Croatia—and a tradition of hospitality that has welcomed travelers for centuries.

The Home of Grk Wine

The village is world-renowned among oenophiles as the exclusive home of the Grk white wine. This unique grape variety only thrives in the sandy soils of Lumbarda's fields and has a fascinating botanical quirk: it only possesses female flowers, meaning it must be planted alongside Plavac Mali (a red variety) for pollination. Visitors can spend their afternoons wandering between family-run wineries, tasting this dry, aromatic wine while overlooking the very vines that produced it, making it the heart of the village's cultural and economic identity.

Beaches and Recreation

Lumbarda is a haven for those who love the water, boasting two of the most famous sandy beaches on the island: Vela Pržina and Bilalin Žal. These sheltered bays offer shallow, crystal-clear waters that are perfect for families and sunbathers. Beyond the sand, the jagged coastline is dotted with secluded rocky coves and pine-fringed paths ideal for cycling and hiking. From the local marina, visitors can also take small boats to explore the scattered islets of the Pelješac Channel, discovering hidden swimming spots and untouched nature.

Nearest Airport

The nearest international gateway to Lumbarda is Dubrovnik Airport (DBV), located approximately 140 km (87 miles) to the southeast. To reach the village from the airport, travelers typically take a 2-hour drive along the scenic Pelješac Peninsula, followed by a short, 15-minute car ferry from Orebić to Korčula. Alternatively, Split Airport (SPU) serves as a major hub, though it requires a longer ferry or catamaran journey. During the summer season, high-speed catamarans offer a direct and picturesque connection from both cities to the island.
