Ghiffa is a small, elegant village on the western shore of Lake Maggiore in Piedmont, located between Verbania and Cannero Riviera. Nestled between the lake and steep, wooded slopes, Ghiffa exudes a tranquil, almost timeless atmosphere - far from mass tourism, but still easily accessible.

The town is best known for the Sacro Monte della Santissima Trinità di Ghiffa, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The 17th century pilgrimage site is located above the lake and offers not only spiritual significance, but also a breathtaking panoramic view over Lake Maggiore as far as the Alps.

Ghiffa itself consists of several small hamlets with historic stone houses, narrow streets and well-tended gardens. The lakeside area is quiet, with small bathing areas, boat moorings and selected restaurants serving regional Piedmontese cuisine. Ghiffa is particularly appreciated for its high quality of life, mild climate and proximity to nature.

Thanks to its good connections to Verbania, Stresa and the Borromean Islands, Ghiffa is suitable both as a retreat for those seeking peace and quiet and as a starting point for excursions, hikes and cultural discoveries. All in all, Ghiffa is a discreet insider tip on Lake Maggiore - stylish, close to nature and authentically Italian.
