This amazing building with a total build size of 2,345m<sup>2</sup> sits just a few minutes walk from the beautiful town of Antequera on the walkers and cyclists route, perfect to explore the stunning countryside which surrounds Antequera in the Malaga province of Andalusia, Spain. The property has great access and whilst standing at the front door all you can hear is the water cascading down the waterfall which is located to the left of the property. The property is mainly vacant. It used to be a thriving agricultural business. Now empty, you can appreciate the sheer size of the build and take in some of its truly beautiful features which include beamed ceiling's and arched set windows. The current owners have two small living accommodations on separate sides of the building. One they use for the winter months and the other in the summer as it is cooler. Although the living areas are small they both have rustic kitchens, full bathrooms and bedrooms. This unique property on a generous 2,293m<sup>2</sup> plot would be a perfect project for someone wanting to open a business or create an incredible home. Really must be seen to be appreciated.
