Location:

Sozopol is located 34 km east-southeast of Burgas. The city is located on a small peninsula. The old part of the city is an architectural reserve. Not far from Sozopol there is an archaeological museum where you can see a rich collection of Greek vases. Residents of Sozopol are proud of the Church of St. The Virgin with a wonderful iconostasis made by local wood carvers. The old and new parts of the city are connected by a boulevard laid in the 1950s and a park laid out at the same time on the seashore, the entrance to which is opened by a memorial arch with the names of local natives who fell during the First Balkan,

World War I and World War II. The main arteries of the city are Apolonia Streets (the center of the Old Town), Republikansk and Ropotamo, where most of the shops, restaurants and entertainment venues are concentrated. Currently, Sozopol is one of the most attractive tourist destinations in Bulgaria. In recent years, many new hotels have been built, and there is a wide beach in the city. There are more than 600 restaurants, taverns, bars, discos, national entertainment establishments in the city that take care of the good mood of tourists. Burgas Airport is 22.1 km away.
