About the Area

Mazotos is a village in the Larnaka province, located about 20 kilometres southwest of the city. The village is built on a coastal plain at an average altitude of 35m. The village of Mazotos borders the village of Alaminos to the west, the village of Anofotia to the northwest and the village of Kiti to the east. The magnificent view of Mazotos towards the endless blue of the sea combined with the traditional neighbourhoods give it unique beauty and picturesque surroundings in the village. Walking through the narrow streets, the traditional houses of folk architecture that pop up one next to the other create an impression. Among the newly built houses there are now restored houses that hold popular Cypriot architecture.

Mazotos is very popular with triathlon as well as mountain bike athletes from all over the world that come for their winter training in the area. The Kite Surfers Beach is favourite hotspot with a very welcoming bar while Mackenzie Beach offers an excellent windsurfing school with the latest equipment and world class trainers. For scuba divers, there are various ship wrecks to explore the most famous of which is Zinovia.

Chirokitia Stone Age Settlement dating back more than 5000 years and Amathounta are must see archeological sites. For the younger guests, the nearby Camel Park and Donkey Farm are definitely worth a visit.

Cyprus' east coast has a reputation for being something of an insomniac. Over the years, the lively town of Ayia Napa has really earned its nightlife stripes, thanks to a neon strip full of bars and nightclubs. But all-night partying is just one chapter in the Larnaca region's story. This part of Cyprus has plenty for couples and families, as well.

Popular resorts

Family favourite, Nissi Beach, is about a mile up the road from Ayia Napa. This town has a golden beach, a massive waterpark, and a leafy waterfront promenade, where you can sample every style of cuisine within earshot of the waves. The town of Protaras, about 15 minutes' drive from Nissi Beach, tends to spark a love-at-first-sight reaction for couples. This place is defined by vine-wrapped tavernas and some of the prettiest coastal spots in the region.

Sweeping countryside

Away from the big resorts, Larnaca is an unexplored region of rocky plains and sprawling fields scattered with windmills and wild flowers. It's a haven for walkers, and for those who fancy filling up a picnic basket and heading for the lemon trees.
