all the charm of a small Provencal village. A walk through the old town is a celebration because you will always come across impressive buildings, fountains, streets and special monuments. Aix-en-Provence is known for its authentic southern French markets. On Tuesday, Thursday and especially Saturday mornings, in the centre you will find dozens of stalls with vegetables, fruits and even books, fresh flowers, clothes, flea markets and local products. The lively Cours Mirabeau is traditionally the place to see and be seen in Aix. Paul Cézanne, Emile Zola and Pablo Picasso all went to Les Deux Garçons here, but unfortunately, this famous brasserie burned down in 2019 and has been closed for the time being. While it's nice to watch the shoppers under the plane trees here, the Place de l'Hôtel-de-Ville is actually even nicer. Sit down on one of the many terraces overlooking the old town hall.
