Here we present an excellent plot of land in one of the most sought after areas for development right now in Costa Rica.

This breathtaking beachfront property is located in Costa Rica, a country known for its natural beauty and laid-back lifestyle. The property is flat and usable, with over 330 feet of beachfront frontage. It is also close to the town of Quepos, which has all the amenities you need, including restaurants, shops, and a hospital.

A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to own a beachfront property on the beautiful coast of Costa Rica is now available. Located in Playa Cocal, Quepos Puntarenas, this 100% usable, 11,500 square meter property has over 100 meters of frontage on the Pacific Ocean.

You are buying 3 corporations that have the right of possession of this land. This gives you the flexibility to build a dream beach resort, eco hotel, bungalows, or 4 separate houses. The possibilities are endless.

Only about 5% of Costa Rica's coast is titled, and the prices are astronomical. The other 95% is government owned. This property is located in the Maritime Zone, which is the first 200 meters inland from the high tide line. While you cannot own titled land in the Maritime Zone, you can have the right of possession. This means that you can build on the land and use it as your own, but you will still have to pay a concession fee to the government.

Once the grand plan is in place, you will be able to get a concession and quadruple your money at least.

In the meantime, you can still enjoy the property and everything it has to offer. There is a caretaker who lives on the property, and there is water and electricity. There are also many fruit trees, including coconut, mango, banana, noni, beach plum, almond, and lime.

You can surf right on your beach, and there are many other places to go ATV-ing, hiking, biking, and fishing. Costa Rica is also home to many national parks, including Manuel Antonio, Corcovado, and Cocos Island.

If you are looking for a paradise to call home, this is the property for you. It is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to own a beachfront property in Costa Rica at an incredible price.

Glamping: You can start making money tomorrow', Glamping is now more and more popular. Being temporary structures, you don't need permits. Tents, bubbles or domes, are temporary structures. There is room to put 50 on that beach. Add the atvs into the equation??? It is a winning recipe.

Quepos has a brand new airport with daily trips to San Jose, 30 minutes. Education in CR is top-notch. Many international schools are in the area. Colegio los Delphines is right in Quepos.

It is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see such a property for sale, your chance is now so don't sleep on it. Located in Playa Cocal, Quepos Puntarenas in the natural wonder that is Costa Rica, the Switzerland of Central America. You will find this flat, beautiful property 100% usable, close to 11.500 square meters/over 120.000 square feet with over 100 meters/330 ft frontage, on the beach in the Pacific Ocean that we call Paraíso Tortugas/Turtles Paradise, where turtles are nesting. Nice sandy beach, no rocks, a pleasure to walk barefoot, ride your horse or ATV.

What you're buying is 3 corporations that have the right of possession of 3 lots on this beach with one of the lots being bigger and subdividable. The benefit of buying 3 lots together is that you can either build a dream beach resort, eco-hotel, bungalows or build 4 separate houses and sell them or rent them, and so on and so forth, only the sky is the limit.

Our plan was to build a resort, 20-30 bungalows with a restaurant and a rental shop: ATV's bikes, kayaks etc.

Only about 5% of the Costa Rican coast is titled and the prices are astronomical, the other 95% of it is government-owned. From high tide, 200 meters inland, it is what they call the Maritime zone, and some agents describe their properties as 'beach properties', even if they are 200 meters away from the beach. This is not the case here. You get off your bed and can put your feet in the sand.

There is NOTHING between your property and the beach. In order to get this Government owned land, you have to have a concession or the right of possession. That's what you've got right now. Titled land goes from 800$ a square meter and up depending on the property, the concession is 400$ a meter and up and on this property you get it at roughly 100$ a square meter. That's cheap like dirt for beachfront. There is an application for concession.

It will come for sure. It is not a matter of if but when. Why? The municipalities are missing a lot of income. When the grand plan is in place you get your concession and quadruple your money at least. For now, you don't pay property taxes, only a small fee for each corporation every year.

The next town Parrita, has an area called Playa Bandera. Right on the beach. Half the place has a concession, the other doesn't. That didn't stop anybody, either with or without concession from building, rent, opening a business, Airbnb etc.

It is a form of ownership and it is safer than your timeshares. It's been like that forever, it will change to concession eventually and that would benefit you greatly. In the meantime, enjoy the Pura Vida.

On the property, we have a caretaker who lives in a small house, where we just changed the roof, the fence around the property, replaced the fridge, the electrical cable from the pole all the way to the house, the meter, and the breakers.

The property has water and electricity, lots of coconut trees, a huge mango tree, bananas, noni fruit, beach plums, almond and lime trees, and you can always plant more. You will frequently see big scarlet macaws flying around or fighting over the biggest almond in your tree, and there are also squirrel monkeys here as well, slots, hummingbirds etc

If you want to learn surfing, your neighbour can teach you. Miguel Surf Camp is just a bit down the road. The place is located on a peninsula, in the fisherman's village, this is one of, if not the biggest lot around. It is accessed via a mini ferry from Quepos, or through the new road from Costanera Sur/South Coastal Highway.

It's a rock throw from Quepos where there is a farmer's market called Feria, where you can buy local organic fresh meats, dairy, fruits and vegetables. Also, you can find everything else in town. From church to rent a car you got them all here. Great grocery stores, Maxi Pali, BM Supermercado, and others will sell you from your favourite 25-year-old Chivas Regal to toothpaste and everything in between. Great selections of local and international products, so you won't miss a thing here. Right next to the ferry, the fisherman comes with fresh fish every day.

The property is very close to Pez Vela, a world-class marina built a few years ago, where you can moor your 50 ft yacht. They even had a 100ft one there. This is a great place with lots of shops and really nice restaurants, where many events are being organized, my favorite being the World Cup Deep Sea Fishing tournament. You should see what the boys are catching. I will include a few links below.

Manuel Antonio, the most visited and accessible National Park of Costa Rica, is just a little bit down the road. From the howler monkeys to the white-faced capuchin, spider and squirrel monkeys, toucans, sloths, parrots, and a bunch of other creatures inhabit this park. It's wheelchair accessible and could be visited day or night.

Nauyaca, the biggest and most beautiful waterfall in Costa Rica is about an hour away. Rainmaker, is another beautiful park just around the corner.

Also, Costa Rica is one of the 5 Blue Zones of the planet where people live longer, happier healthier. Also medical tourism is big here. People from the US, Canada and around the world come here for various medical reasons, from surgeries to dental implants, they get world-class treatment at a fraction of the cost compared to their native countries.

If you have an emergency here, they will treat you first, and they won't rip you of. Different mentality. The doctor will come to your home, if you like.

Voted many times the happiest place on Earth Costa Rica is a mesmerizing place to live and enjoy the PURA VIDA.

You are not buying a property, you are buying a lifestyle, one where you can ride your ATV on public roads, go fishing in the morning and zip-line in the afternoon, eat at a great restaurant in the evening, and finish your day lying on your beach and watch the stars. Enjoy the local cuisine at the many ...
