Omschrijving:

- The Garden Living is being developed in one of Berlin's most promising neighborhoods. Right by the canal at Kiehlufer and just steps from Treptower Park, this new-build project blends sustainable architecture, modern comfort, and vibrant Kiez atmosphere - creating a living environment where community, nature, and urban life meet.

With the exclusive Home Designer tool, buyers can personalize every detail - from flooring and wall finishes to kitchen cabinetry and countertops - creating a truly upscale, tailor-made home. The development comprises 24 bright apartments ranging from smart studios to spacious four-room homes. Each unit features flexible floor plans, floor-to-ceiling windows, and private outdoor spaces such as balconies or terraces - with green views and abundant natural light.

The project stands out with its timber-hybrid construction, energy-efficient systems including photovoltaic panels and air-source heat pumps, and a beautifully landscaped communal garden with a pergola and glass pavilion. An underground garage provides parking for cars, bicycles, and e-mobility.

Set in a quiet side street, The Garden Living offers a calm retreat while being surrounded by a lively urban scene. The neighborhood combines the charm of a traditional Berlin Kiez with the dynamism of a growing start-up hub. Trendy cafes, restaurants, organic shops, schools, and cultural venues are all within walking distance, and public transport connections (S-Bahn, U-Bahn, and bus) ensure quick access to the city center.

Whether as a stylish home or a secure investment property, The Garden Living offers a rare opportunity to buy into one of Berlin's most attractive residential projects.

Our team at First Citiz Berlin will be happy to provide you with further information on this project or arrange a free consultation.

City area

Located in the south of Berlin, Neukolln is a cosmopolitan and bohemian neighborhood. The numerous stalls of the mythical Sonnennallee and the colorful market of Maybachufer testify to the important multicultural community. There are also trendy young people from around the world, especially around the Weserstrasse, which is full of bars, vegan restaurants and designer boutiques. In the heart of Neukolln, the large Hasenheide park, between Hermannplatz from and the former Tempelhof airport, will delight outdoor enthusiasts. To the south of the town hall, Rixdorf is a charming neighborhood with the airs of villages around the Richardplatz. There are many small cafes, cobbled walks, and urban houses. For several years Neukolln has experienced unprecedented economic and property development. Every year, the famous "48 hours of Neukolln", open doors of workshops, are the opportunity to meet the many artists living in this neighbourhood.
