Villapiana - An up-and-coming coastal town on the Ionian Riviera of Calabria

Villapiana, located in the province of Cosenza, is one of the most charming and dynamic towns on the Ionian Riviera of Calabria. The municipality, which is divided into Villapiana Lido, Villapiana Scalo and the historic Villapiana Centro, combines the authenticity of a traditional southern Italian coastal town with modern infrastructure and a constantly growing tourist attraction.

The coast of Villapiana is one of the most beautiful and extensive beaches in the entire region: fine, golden sand, gently sloping, crystal-clear water and wide pine groves create a Mediterranean landscape that delights both families and nature lovers. The bathing quality has been excellent for years, which is why the beaches regularly receive awards.

The historic center of Villapiana Centro is slightly elevated above the sea and impresses with its winding alleys, old stone houses, historic churches and impressive views of the coastline and the Sila Mountains. The centuries-old history of the town, which dates back to ancient times, can be seen here: the area was originally part of the Greek settlement zone "Magna Graecia", which still shapes the cultural heritage of the region today.

Villapiana has excellent transport connections:

- Direct access to the SS106 highway
- Villapiana-Trebisacce train station with regional and national connections
- Lamezia Terme and Bari airports are easily accessible
- The port of Corigliano-Rossano is only a few kilometers away

Villapiana has experienced strong growth in recent years, particularly in the tourism, second homes and vacation property sectors. New beach promenades, modern residential complexes, restaurants, beach clubs and sports facilities - including water sports, cycle paths and nature parks - increase the quality of life and make the town increasingly attractive for both holidaymakers and investors.

The Mediterranean climate with over 300 days of sunshine a year, the excellent regional cuisine and the relaxed lifestyle of southern Italy underline the high quality of life that Villapiana has to offer.

Villapiana today stands for:
a perfect combination of sea, nature and culture stable value development in the real estate sector
a quiet, safe environment with a high quality of life
a region with great tourist potential
