Omschrijving:

Charming 15th-century stone house for sale on the banks of the Charente in Saint-Macoux.

A rare opportunity to acquire a property full of character, history and potential in a beautiful riverside setting. Among its many original features are the property's defensive windows, which hint at its medieval past. Local tradition suggests the house may once have been used as a place of refuge, lending a remarkable sense of history to the building. In need of renovation, the house offers generous rooms ready to be restored and reimagined, with lovely original features including a magnificent stone fireplace in the first-floor sitting room and original oak flooring. Recent works already completed include new aluminium double glazing, a recent roof, mains drainage connection, and some electrical and plumbing work.

The land, just under 6,000m<sup>2</sup>, borders the Charente yet is non-floodable, with around 1,985m<sup>2</sup> classed as constructible. This opens up interesting possibilities, whether for a main residence, a small campsite, or unique holiday accommodation.

The property is also sold with a 40m<sup>2</sup> mobile home, fully equipped with a kitchen, sitting room, shower room, two bedrooms and a raised terrace.
