The centerpiece of the private living quarters is a grand master suite complete with an en-suite bathroom and its own private balcony offering sweeping views of the surrounding countryside. The expansive layout includes a welcoming lounge, an inviting dining room, a fully fitted kitchen with a dedicated larder, a separate utility room, and an abundance of additional en-suite bathrooms serving the guest rooms.

ABOUT THE AREA

Albondon is a traditional, whitewashed village situated in the province of Granada within the Andalusian region of southern Spain. Nestled high on the southern slopes of the Sierra de la Contraviesa in the La Alpujarra region, it sits at an elevation of roughly 900 meters above sea level. Its Moorish origins are evident in its narrow, winding streets, historic architecture, and the 18th-century Iglesia de San Luis.

The village is historically renowned for its rich agricultural output, most notably high-altitude vineyards, almond groves, and fig trees. Local winemaking remains a cornerstone of the village's cultural identity and economy, with its wines and traditional grape must celebrated throughout the region. Visitors often explore its local wine rooms, sample traditional tapas like migas, and take advantage of the scenic hiking paths that weave through the surrounding hillsides.

Geographically, Albondon benefits from a unique position that balances mountain tranquility with coastal proximity. Positioned just 16 kilometers inland from the Mediterranean shoreline (Costa Tropical), it offers panoramic views stretching across the Contraviesa ridge down toward the sea. This positioning makes it a popular stop for travelers seeking authentic rural Spain while remaining close to coastal beaches like La Rabita.

The nearest commercial airport to Albondon is Almeria Airport (LEI), located roughly 90 kilometers (56 miles) to the east, which takes about 1 hour and 15 minutes by car. Alternatively, Federico Garcia Lorca Granada-Jaen Airport (GRX) lies around 110 kilometers (68 miles) to the northwest, while Malaga-Costa del Sol Airport (AGP)—about 150 kilometers (93 miles) away—serves as the primary international gateway with the broadest range of flights.
