

Existing features include parquet flooring, marble and granite finishes, wooden window frames, radiators, an individual central heating system and a Lindab roof.

Due to its generous size and flexible configuration, the villa is suitable for residential use, a residence combined with office space, company headquarters, medical or professional practice, commercial use or other activities permitted under the applicable regulations.

The separate 348 sqm land plot may also represent an additional investment or development opportunity, subject to the applicable urban planning regulations.
