ABOUT THE AREA

Grotto Bay is a coastal private property in West Coast District Municipality in the Western Cape province of South Africa. It was declared a nature reserve in 2002. Covering about 378,000 hectares is located 45 minutes from Cape Town.

If it is nature you want to experience, then Grotto Bay is easily one of the closest towns to Cape Town in which to do so. Grotto Bay is situated in the West Coast region of the Western Cape, South Africa. The Grotto Bay Coastal and Nature Reserve is part of the Cape West Coast Biosphere Reserve. All Biospheres promote a balanced approach to the development of humans and the preservation of biodiversity in a particular region.

There are many activities to do in this area from walking along the endless beach or hiking within the Nature Reserve. Spending time in nature is the perfect way to relax after the hustle and bustle of city life. However small, Grotto Bay has quite a few accommodation options available from Guest Houses, Bed and Breakfasts to Self-catering units.

And if the beach and the beauty of the surrounding nature reserve are not enough to sustain you, then nearby Mamre, with its historical Moravian mission station, Darling and its accessible wine estates, or the gorgeous village of Philadelphia, make wonderful outings.
