ABOUT THE AREA

Cureggio is a comune in the Province of Novara in the Italian region of Piedmont, located about 90 kilometres northeast of Turin and about 30 kilometres northwest of Novara. Cureggio borders the following municipalities: Boca, Borgomanero, Cavallirio, Fontaneto d'Agogna, and Maggiora. There are plenty of places to see and visit around Cureggio. Whether you love hiking or cycling, Cureggio is a region where there are many hidden gems are waiting to be explored and visited.

The province of Novara covers an area of 1,339 sq. km and borders the province of Verbano to the north, the province of Vercelli to the west and the region of Lombardy to the east and south. Geographically, the province of Novara lies between River Sesia to the west and River Ticino to the east. It is mainly flat in the south and thanks to extensive irrigation networks it is a large producer of rice. The terrain gradually rises to small hills further north with large forests and vineyards.

Novara is the capital city of the province of Novara in the Piedmont region in northwest Italy, to the west of Milan. It is an important crossroads for commercial traffic along the routes from Milan to Turin and from Genoa to Switzerland. Novara's sights can be divided into two groupings. The city's most important sights lie within its historic centre, the area once enclosed by the city walls. However, several important sights also lie outside the line of the former city walls. The most imposing monument in the city is the Basilica of San Gaudenzio, with a cupola 121 metres (397 ft) high, designed by Alessandro Antonelli and constructed in 1888. The bell tower is also of particular interest; it was designed by Benedetto Alfieri, uncle of the more famous Vittorio Alfieri.
