Description:

Nestled in a local residential area of Nyanyi, this 200 sqm land offers an excellent opportunity for those seeking a compact yet strategic investment in one of Bali's growing regions. Surrounded by greenery and traditional homes, the land is ideal for building a private villa, a compact guesthouse, or a long-term rental property catering to those who want a calm lifestyle while staying close to the coast.

Positioned just a 10-minute ride from Nyanyi Beach, the location provides a balance between tranquil village living and convenient access to nature and leisure. The surrounding neighborhood is in transition, with a mix of local homes and new private developments, giving early investors the chance to enter the market before the area becomes more commercially saturated. Access to the plot is via a local village road, and the shape of the land allows flexibility for design and construction planning.

With the continued expansion of the Tabanan-Canggu corridor and the increasing demand for peaceful, lifestyle-focused properties, this land holds strong long-term potential. Whether you're looking to build a personal home or a rental unit, the size and location are ideal for maximizing returns on a manageable budget. This is a solid entry point for investors seeking growth and capital appreciation in Bali's west coast development path.
