which includes restaurants, supermarkets, convenience stores, offices, and services geared towards both tourists and permanent residents. This mix of uses generates diverse demand: from those looking for a place to have breakfast overlooking the sea to those who come to do their daily shopping, hire services, or enjoy a sunset dinner. During the summer months, activity intensifies considerably, with an increase in visitors strolling along the streets parallel and perpendicular to the coast, turning every shopfront into a visually striking opportunity. However, the neighborhood remains vibrant beyond the summer season thanks to a stable population that resides year-round, ensuring a continuous flow of potential customers. Connections and Accessibility Access to the premises is convenient from various points in the city thanks to its proximity to main roads such as Avenida de las Habaneras, which connects to the center of Torrevieja and provides access to the N-332 highway, towards Alicante and Murcia. The area is well-served by public transport, with nearby bus stops connecting to other neighborhoods and the bus station, facilitating access for both employees and customers.
