Description:

A beautiful, southwest-facing natural setting of approximately 1.5 hectares, spread across several terraces, most of which are meadows, includes a barn of about 50m² to renovate, two greenhouses, numerous fruit trees, and an agricultural processing workshop housed in a 20m² wooden chalet with an upper floor, supplied with spring water and electricity by solar panels.

Nestled at an altitude of 700 meters, it is accessible via a 400m track, either by 4x4 or on foot. The walk is very pleasant, and the surrounding nature is both dominant and rejuvenating.

Permits have been obtained for the chalet; those for the barn are pending. This property offers the potential for self-sufficiency and provides an excellent starting point.

Rare property, close to Lourdes, major roads (Argeles-Gazost-A64) and Tarbes-Lourdes-Pyrenees International Airport.

The barn on the property requires renovation, governed by mountain regulations and subject to prefectural authorisation. (PDF "Guide to the Development of Outlying Barns" available upon request).

VIEWINGS AVAILABLE FROM JANUARY 2, 2026.

The department of Hautes-Pyrenees is the southern-most department of the Midi Pyrenees region, its capital being the beautiful town of Tarbes. The department has a very interesting geography as two small sections belonging geographically to Aquitaine are administratively part of the Hautes-Pyrenees.

The department is split into two very different landscapes: mountains to the south covering half of the department, valleys to the north where the majority of the towns and villages are.

The economy of the department is mainly agricultural and tourism. Inside Midi Pyrenees, smaller areas have traditional names such as the Comminges (east of Toulouse) or the famous Gascony.

Hautes-Pyrenees is a very nice area to settle and one area to look out for (not very well known) is the Baronnies, a set of 30 villages which decided to preserve their rural traditions. An unspoilt area, they represent the rural idyll for anybody in search for absolute peace, authenticity and rest.
