High-quality materials were used in the construction of the buildings, allowing for a high construction standard and giving the complex a leading position in the regional real estate market. For the high standard, proven European manufacturers of building materials were used, such as "Bramac" – leading Spanish factories for the production of tiles and floor coverings. The exterior cladding is made of polished stone, and the joinery is made of specially treated wood. The complex features a SPA and fitness center built on more than 600 m² over two floors.
