An immaculately maintained Mediterranean villa for sale in Benitachell, Valle del Portet, set on an elevated 900m² plot with a charming dry-stone retaining wall that immediately captures attention. The villa is arranged over two levels, with the main living accommodation on the upper floor and private guest suites on the lower level, offering flexibility for family life and visiting guests.

Access is via manual gates, with the option to upgrade to electric, leading to a driveway with parking for two cars. There is also convenient public parking directly opposite, ideal for extra visitors. On this level there is direct access to the guest suites, as well as the gas tanks and storage. The front garden is attractively landscaped with pebbled stone and Mediterranean planting, enhancing the property's character. Two separate staircases lead to the main level: one to the left opens directly onto the terrace and Naya, while the second passes through the side garden to the main entrance.

Inside, a hallway leads into a bright and spacious lounge featuring a fireplace with log burner, ceiling fan and gas radiators for the cooler months. Double French doors open onto the Naya and terrace, filling the room with natural light.

Off the lounge the modern kitchen has been tastefully updated and decorated. Black and white tiles are paired with sleek black granite worktops, complemented by crisp white wall and base cupboards providing ample storage. A built-in wine rack provides the perfect place to store wines discovered at the region's nearby vineyards.

A door from the lounge opens into the separate dining room, a bright space with two windows and direct access to the terrace. From here, the internal staircase leads down to the guest suites.

To the right of the entrance hallway is a guest cloakroom with WC and washing machine. Further along is a double bedroom overlooking the rear gardens and is currently configured with twin beds. The spacious master suite filled with natural light, features large fitted wardrobes and views overlooking the Naya. The en-suite bathroom features dual basins with a floating vanity, a spacious corner shower and additional built-in storage. Both bedrooms benefit from hot and cold air conditioning.
