Castelo Branco OC is a Portuguese city, capital of the District of Castelo Branco and, located in the statistical region of centro, in the sub-region of Beira Baixa and in the former province of the same name, with 34471 inhabitants in its urban perimeter (2021).[

It is the headquarters of the municipality of Castelo Branco, the third largest Portuguese in extension with 1 438.19 km² of area[and 52 291 inhabitants (albicastrenses) (2021), subdivided into 19 parishes. The municipality is bordered to the north by the municipality of Fundão, to the east by Idanha-a-Nova, to the south by Spain, to the southwest by Vila Velha de Ródão and to the west by Proença-a-Nova and by Oleiros.

Unlike other cities in the region, which have grown remarkably due to the textile industry, Castelo Branco has always had a geostrategic and political importance in Portugal. It is therefore not subject to the economic fluctuations that have relocated textile companies - no longer disqualified manual labor - as happened in the northern region and cova da Beira. The predominant sociological composition is therefore also very different from other cities of operad culture.

It was considered in 2006, in a study prepared by DECO, the second district capital of the country with the best quality of life. In 2017, it is in 36th place nationally, and 7th in the Central region, according to a study by the consultant Bloom Consulting - REF: 801/A/00024
