Sea. It's famed for its medieval walled old city, which contains the Palace of the Shirvanshahs, a vast royal complex, and the iconic stone Maiden Tower. Contemporary landmarks include the Zaha Hadid-designed Heydar Aliyev Center, and the Flame Towers, 3 pointed skyscrapers covered with LED screens.

Baku property is a popular choice for foreign investors, due to the city's strong economy, growing population, and attractive investment opportunities. The Azerbaijani capital is home to a number of multinational companies and organizations, and its economy is growing at a rapid pace. The population of Baku is also growing, and this is creating a demand for new housing and commercial space.

There are a number of attractive investment opportunities available in Baku, including:

Residential property: The demand for residential property in Baku is strong, and there is a limited supply of land available. This has led to rising property prices in recent years.

Commercial property: Baku is a major business hub, and there is a growing demand for commercial property, such as office space, retail space, and hotel space.

Investment in infrastructure: The Azerbaijani government is investing heavily in infrastructure projects, such as roads, railways, and airports. This is creating opportunities for investors to invest in construction and other related industries.

ABOUT THE AREA

Azerbaijan's capital Baku (or Bakı in Azeri) is the architectural love child of Paris and Dubai...albeit with plenty of Soviet genes floating half-hidden in the background. Few cities in the world are changing as quickly and nowhere else in the Caucasus do East and West blend as seamlessly or as chaotically. At its heart, the Unesco-listed İçəri Şəhər (Old City) lies within an exotically crenellated arc of fortress wall.

Around this are gracefully illuminated stone mansions and pedestrianised tree-lined streets filled with exclusive boutiques. The second oil boom, which started around 2006, has turned the city into a crucible of architectural experimentation and some of the finest new buildings are jaw-dropping masterpieces.

Meanwhile romantic couples canoodle their way around wooded parks and hold hands on the Caspian-front bulvar (promenade), where greens and opal blues make a mockery of Baku's desert-ringed location.
