Tucked away in one of Kreuzberg's most vibrant and sought-after neighborhoods, this charming garden-level flat offers the perfect balance of city living and peaceful retreat. Located in a beautifully maintained early 1900s building with classic period details, the apartment combines historic character with modern comfort.

The spacious two-room layout features an open-plan kitchen and living area, ideal for entertaining or quiet evenings at home. The bedroom provides a cozy haven, while the living space opens directly toward the tranquil garden level, creating a seamless connection to the outdoors.

Set in the heart of the beloved Bergmannkiez, the flat is surrounded by an eclectic mix of independent shops, artisan bakeries, family-run cafes, and vibrant weekly markets. This area of Kreuzberg is known

Behind the Spree, the Wrangelkiez is a trendy area with many bars and restaurants. To the south of Kreuzberg, the Bergmankiez is a lively district with many shopping streets. There is a large covered market, the Marheineke Markthalle. Viktoriapark, perched on a hill, offers a panoramic view of Berlin. For culture buffs, the Hebbel Am Ufer offers a rich program of contemporary dance and theatre.
