Unique view, winery, truffle reserve, hilly farmstead to be restored and upgraded, featuring cellars and antique country buildings for sale in Siena. In one of the most fascinating landscapes of the Crete Senesi region, south of Siena, bordering Val D'Orcia Unesco Heritage site, with striking sceneries and open views as far as Montalcino, home of Brunello wines, and even the towers and bells of Siena. Spanning over 192 acres (78 ha), the property features lakes, woods, streams, vineyards, olive groves, and an ancient farm with a central courtyard and annexed buildings. Of medieval origin, it was rebuilt in the 1800s as a convent and later used for agriculture. With ideal microclimate for viticulture, wine production is documented since 1695. Today, 4.8 ha of certified organic vineyards (since 2023) grow Sangiovese, Syrah, Canaiolo, Vermentino, Malvasia, Trebbiano, and Verdea, producing around 30,000 bottles/year of IGT Toscana, along with grappa and rosé. Wines age in French oak barrels, with some processed in cement and steel. Olive oil is a historic excellence, awarded since 1886, with 1,500 trees (Moraiolo, Leccino, Frantoio, Pendolino, Correggiolo). Over 3 ha of truffle reserve offer white, marzuolo, and scorzone varieties. The 2,400 sq m estate features terracotta buildings, a courtyard with an ancient well, a manor with five guest apartments, cellars, and event spaces. A second structure offers vaulted cellars and two more apartments. Though partially restored, all buildings need full renovation (PMAA), with potential for cutting-edge winery conversion. Just 1.7 km away lies the Abbey of Monte Oliveto Maggiore, a 14th-century gem still active with Gregorian chants.
