Ascoli Piceno - The city of travertine in the Marche region

Ascoli Piceno, located in the heart of the southern Marche region, is one of the most beautiful and historic towns in central Italy. Known as the "city of a hundred towers", it impresses with its exceptionally well-preserved historic center, which was built almost entirely from light-colored travertine stone. This precious stone gives the city a unique, warm light and unmistakable elegance.

The heart of Ascoli is Piazza del Popolo, one of the most beautiful squares in Italy. Surrounded by arcades, cafés and Renaissance palaces, it forms the vibrant center of city life. It is also home to the famous Caffè Meletti, a traditional Art Nouveau café that has been a meeting place for artists, intellectuals and travelers for over a hundred years.

Just a few steps away is Piazza Arringo, the oldest piazza in the city, flanked by impressive buildings such as the Bishop's Palace and the city museum. Those interested in culture will find a rich offer in Ascoli: from the Teatro Ventidio Basso, a magnificent opera house from the 19th century, to numerous art galleries, churches and Romanesque buildings that tell of the city's long history.

Ascoli Piceno also has a lot to offer in terms of cuisine. The Olive all'Ascolana - olives stuffed with meat and deep-fried - are famous throughout Italy. You can enjoy regional specialties and excellent local wines in the cosy trattorias in the old town.

Surrounded by hills, vineyards and olive groves, Ascoli is only around 40 kilometers from the sea and the beaches of the Adriatic, while to the west the mighty peaks of the Monti Sibillini National Park seem close enough to touch. This location between the mountains and the sea makes the town an ideal starting point for exploring the diverse landscape of the Marche region.

Ascoli Piceno combines history, culture and joie de vivre in an incomparable way - a place where the soul of Italy can be felt in every alley, in every square and in every stone.
