MIXED OWNERSHIP | ~11 ha | GALVEIAS ALTO ALENTEJO

Existing house | Own water | Cork oak forest | Preliminary architectural study completed

Among the wide and quiet light of Alto Alentejo is a unique property of about 11 hectares, where the landscape preserves its authenticity and nature continues to set the pace of the place.

With approximately 5 hectares of olive groves, cork oak forests (with cork ready soon), fruit trees, two wells with abundant water throughout the year and a seasonal water line, this property is distinguished by the rare combination of scale, fertility, privacy and tree cover, providing a greener and more protected landscape than usual in the region.

The urban component includes a plot of 1,000 m² and an existing registered construction with 162 m², complemented by annexes, constituting a solid basis for rehabilitation or future development.

The property also has a preliminary architectural study already completed, prepared for the instruction of the Request for Prior Information (PIP), the result of a technical work previously developed and framed with the competent authorities. The proposal can naturally be adapted or evolve according to the vision of the future owner.

Due to its size, natural resources and landscape setting, it has particularly interesting characteristics for tourism in rural areas, nature and well-being projects, agricultural exploration, equestrian tourism or private residence with high privacy.

Located next to the EN244, it benefits from the proximity to the Montargil Dam, the Ponte de Sor Racetrack and the main infrastructures of the region, while maintaining the characteristic serenity of the Alentejo interior.

More than a property, this is a place with its own identity a territory where water, nature and time coexist in balance, creating a rare basis for a life or investment project.

I will be happy to present the property in person, share the existing preliminary study and clarify in detail all relevant information for a full assessment of its potential.

See you soon!
