The centre of Annecy is welcoming a new regeneration project that will create a unique living environment with extensive green spaces, providing the city with a new breathing area and the opportunity to reconnect man with nature. The project will transform a huge build-up site into a new exceptional residential district, a haven of serenity, conviviality and well-being, in a sustainable and responsible way. This new habitat draws its inspiration from current lifestyles while anticipating those of tomorrow and carries the promise of an exceptional quality of life, both indoors and outdoors. The first phase of the project will see the building of three remarkable residences, surrounded by nature, with more than 300 trees being planted and 23,000m<sup>2</sup> of landscaped green spaces. A central and vegetated square will be the link between the residents, as a meeting place, to play sports or simply to enjoy a break in a serene environment. Soft connections and streets with trees will emphasize the natural continuity of the neighbourhood, helping to disconnect from the rhythm of the city. The care given to landscaping and the creation of gentle or exclusively pedestrian traffic lanes contribute to the development of biodiversity and reflect the desire to build sustainably while contributing to the daily well-being of residents. The architecture, for its part, dialogues harmoniously with nature, sometimes featuring it on its roofs and floors, and offers pleasant visual breakthroughs on generous green spaces. The three residences, which have been signed by renowned architects, reveal superb contemporary apartments. Ranging from studios to 4 bedroom apartments, they offer rare living comfort, like the capital of Haute-Savoie. The new district enjoys an ideal location just a few minutes from the heart of Annecy and its historic centre. The train and bus station are a short walk away, as well as essential daily shops and services and the Courier shopping centre. Residents here can enjoy the privilege of a daily life in preserved nature while remaining connected to the heart of the city. Ultimately, the district will accommodate 500 m<sup>2</sup> of commercial space, a service residence and a third place dedicated to residents as a meeting place.
