Quinta Torrinha

A Rare Historic Estate in the Heart of Funchal

Hidden behind centuries-old basalt walls in the prestigious district of Santa Luzia, Quinta Torrinha is one of Madeira's most distinguished historic estates a remarkable nineteenth-century residence where architectural heritage, botanical beauty and contemporary luxury come together in an exceptional private setting.

Set within approximately 3,000 m² of magnificent subtropical gardens, the estate enjoys extraordinary privacy while remaining within walking distance of Funchal's historic centre and marina.

Carefully restored while preserving the character and soul of the original manor, the residence features elegant reception and dining rooms, a distinguished mahogany library, private office, television lounge and beautifully preserved architectural details, including its magnificent Cornucopia ceiling. A private elevator provides convenient access between the manor's levels.

The estate offers exceptionally versatile accommodation, with three bedrooms within the principal manor, a beautiful garden suite overlooking the tranquil koi pond, two further garden suites including one with two bedrooms as well as another enchanting garden suite, a separate garden flat and dedicated staff accommodation. The independent units benefit from their own fully equipped kitchens, providing exceptional privacy and independence for family and guests.

Yet it is difficult to capture Quinta Torrinha in words alone, as there is simply so much to discover within this remarkable property. From the lush botanical gardens and hidden pathways to the privacy of its individual bedrooms and garden suites, every part of the estate offers a different experience. Mornings can begin surrounded by tropical greenery, afternoons spent beside the swimming pool, and evenings gathered around the firepit, dining outdoors or relaxing in the secluded jacuzzi. It is a property designed not simply to be admired, but to be lived in and enjoyed both indoors and out.

The gardens are undoubtedly among Quinta Torrinha's defining features. Created over decades by landscape designer Russell Bodé, together with horticulturist Fernando Teixeira da Silva, they form an extraordinary private botanical sanctuary filled with mature exotic trees, orchids, camellias, hydrangeas and subtropical planting. Historic levadas weave through the grounds alongside streams, fountains, waterfalls, lily ponds and a serene koi pond, creating an atmosphere of remarkable tranquillity.

Designed to embrace Madeira's celebrated year-round outdoor lifestyle, the estate includes a swimming pool, outdoor kitchen, secluded jacuzzi, firepit and extensive entertaining areas, all surrounded by lush gardens and exotic birdlife. Whether hosting family and friends or simply finding a quiet corner of the gardens to enjoy, the estate offers an exceptional variety of private and social spaces.

From its elevated position, Quinta Torrinha enjoys spectacular panoramic views across Funchal Bay, the Atlantic Ocean and Madeira's mountains. Cruise ships, sailing yachts and superyachts glide across the bay below, creating an ever-changing maritime panorama. On New Year's Eve, the estate offers an extraordinary private vantage point over Funchal's world-renowned fireworks display.

Despite this remarkable sense of seclusion, the restaurants, boutiques, cultural attractions and marina of central Funchal are within easy reach, while Madeira International Airport is approximately 20 minutes away. Private parking completes the estate.

Quinta Torrinha lends itself beautifully to several possibilities. It could remain an exceptional private residence or multigenerational family home, offering remarkable space and privacy for family and guests. Equally, its independent accommodation, privileged location and extraordinary grounds give it considerable potential as a prestigious investment property or exclusive hospitality concept, subject to the relevant licensing and approvals.

More than an exceptional residence, Quinta Torrinha is a property of genuine provenance and one of the increasingly rare opportunities to become the custodian of a historic Madeiran quinta an estate to experience, enjoy and preserve for generations to come.
